Pupils from Fosse Bank School in Hildenborough had great fun raising money for the British Heart Foundation. They held a 'Skipathon' with all the children from Reception to Year 6 taking part.

Mrs Young, PE Teacher said, "The children had an exhilarating time and were inspired by the skipping rhymes and games taught by both staff and parents who also helped to turn long ropes. We wanted to find a way to raise money whilst supporting the strong school ethos of keeping healthy."

The school has raised over a thousand pounds to be sent to the British Heart Foundation to help children with heart problems.
